

VOLUNTEERS NEAR END OF PIPE WELDING

Work at the Newmarket arena is proceeding satisfactorily both on the artificial ice installation and changes to the overall plan.

The voluntary welders and their crew of helpers are finding the welding chore at the east end of the arena is taking more time to complete than originally estimated. They've been on the job all Saturday and are working every night but Friday and fully expect this week will see the completion of that important phase of the work.

Aside to Howard Brown of the Newmarket Trumpet Band and C. R. Blackstock at Pickering: "We'll be giving you a shout for help very shortly now on that big chore of bringing in the sand. You'll have to get the band boys and students to beg, borrow or steel a wheelbarrow and shovel."

Chairman Fred Thompson convened the ways and means committee on Tuesday evening to report on progress. Plans for heating, plumbing, showers and wash and dressing-room facilities were discussed. Interior walls of the dressing rooms will be of plywood with ten-test squares on the ceiling. It should make a fine appearance. The cost of the work already completed, estimated at 60 percent of the job, is less than anticipated.

Mr. Thompson expressed keen satisfaction as to the way everyone has pitched into the job. There is still money needed to complete the work. Plans for the house-to-house canvass, discussed when the artificial ice campaign first opened, were revived. With this in mind, all members of the ways and means committee elected at the inaugural meeting held at Pickering College last spring, as well as all members of the Recreation Commission, are asked to attend a meeting in the agricultural offices, above Geer and Byers, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 15, at 8 p.m.

It was also mentioned that possibly some cheques from various town organizations which had held bingos, special events may not have been turned in as yet to the fund. If such is the case, the contributions can be left with Fred Thompson or Horace Hiscox at the Dominion Bank.

CITIZENS' BAND TO SPONSOR JUNIOR GROUP

The formation of a junior band has been announced by President Bill Andrews of the Newmarket Citizens' Band. "We can supply instruments for 25 new members, 11 to 16 years," he announced this week. The first enrolment will be Friday, Nov. 10, with weekly practices on succeeding Fridays.

The young recruits will be instructed by the bandmaster, Bill Greig. No previous experience in playing an instrument is necessary since the boys will receive free instruction from Mr. Greig, but all those who have had musical experience will be especially welcomed, said Mr. Andrews. There will be no cost to the boys for either the instruction or the use of the instruments.

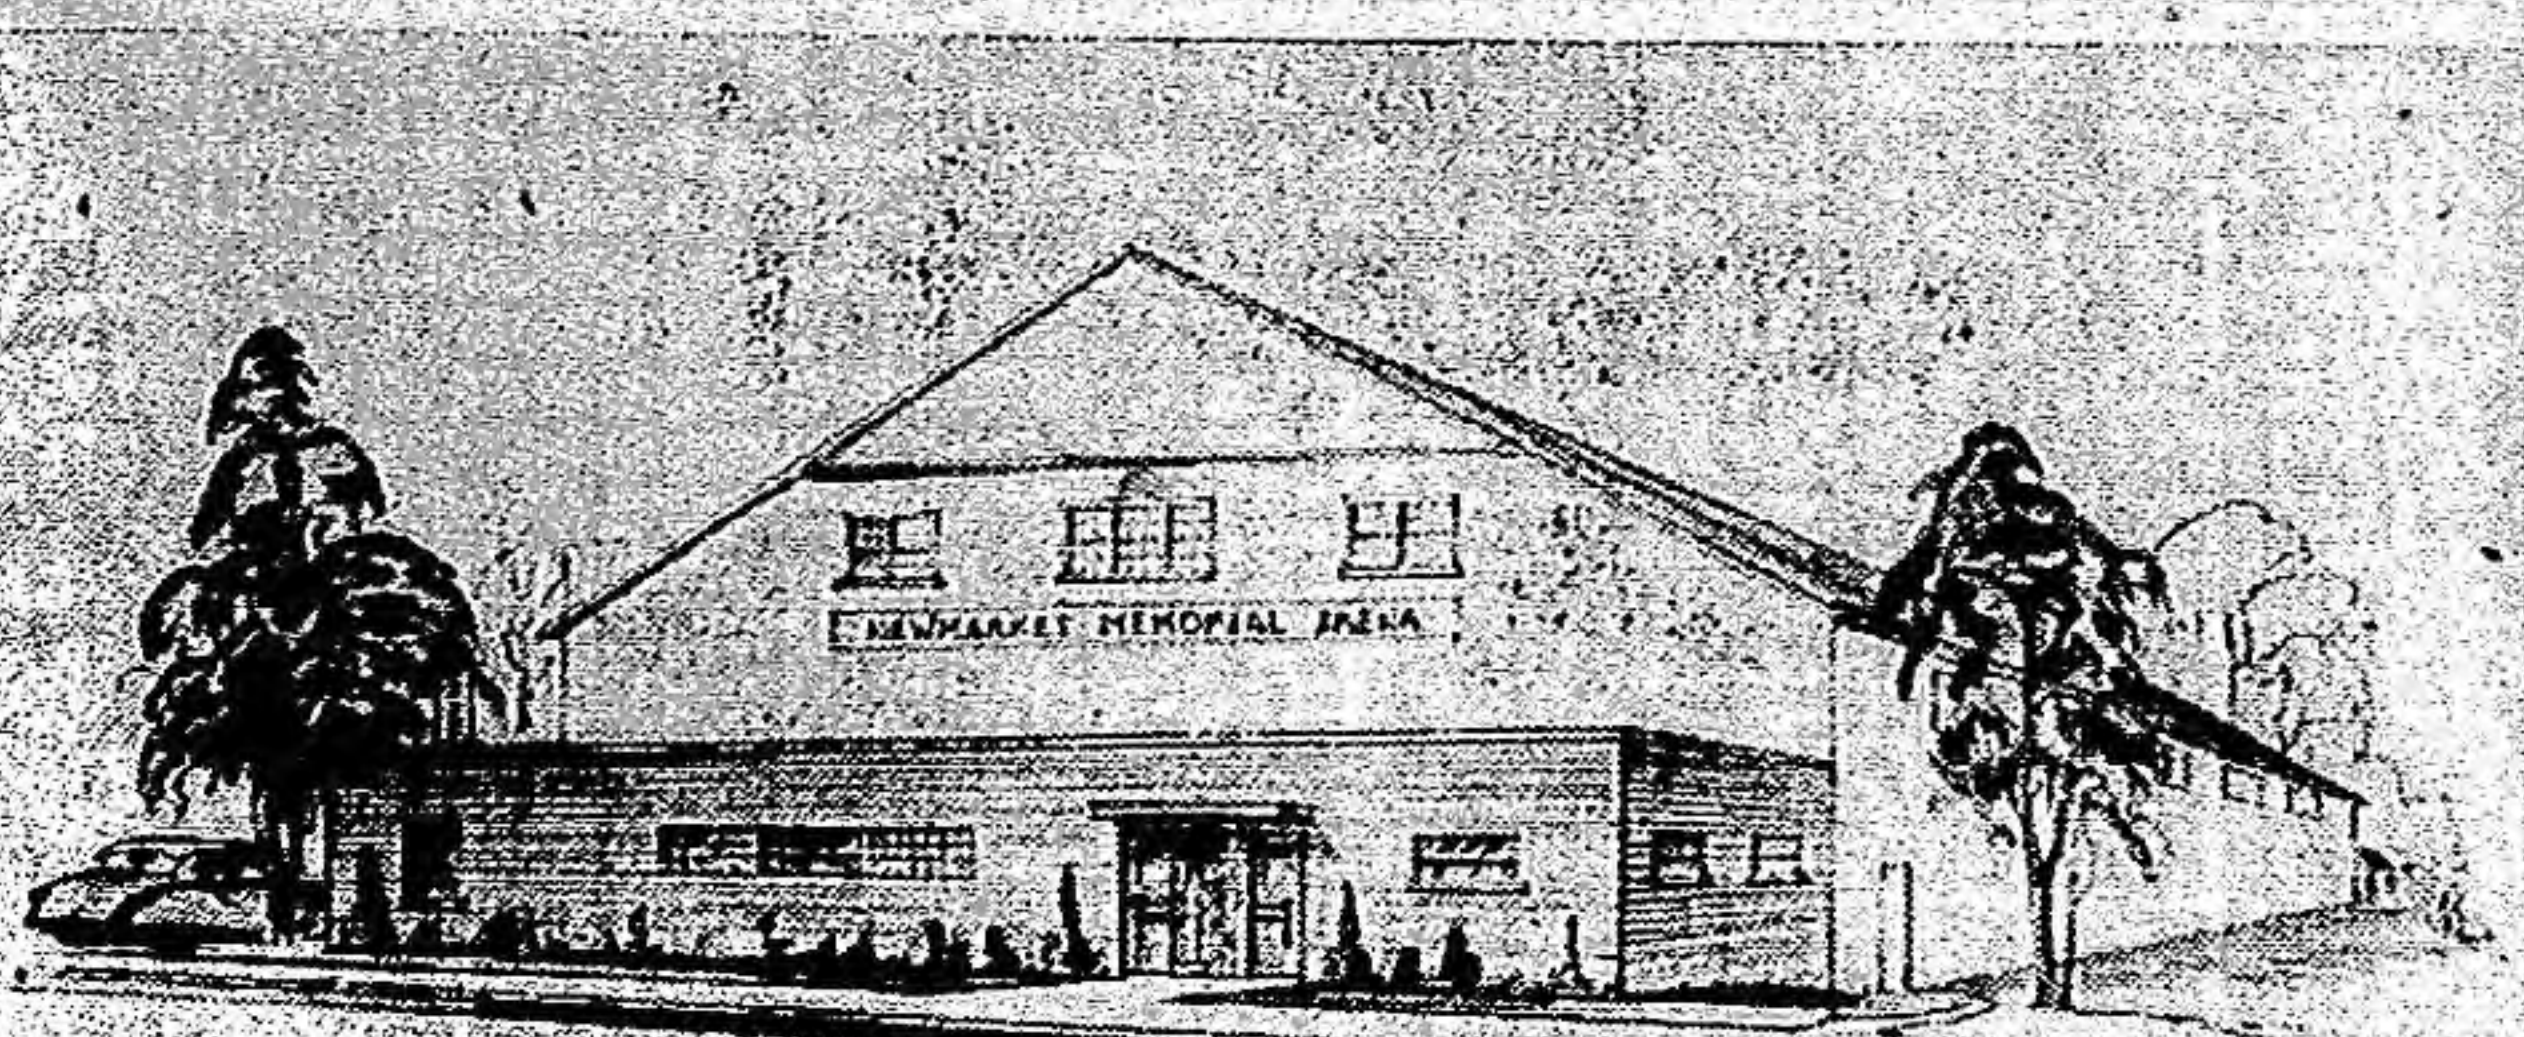

"We plan in this way to assure the Citizens' Band of a steady source for new members, as well as providing youngsters with band instruction and a recreational opportunity," said Mr. Andrews.

The new officers of the Citizens' Band are: hon. pres., J. O. Little, past pres., Clarence Burdette; pres., Wm. Andrews; vice-pres., Len Little; sec., Austin Brammer; treas., Wilbur Henry; librarians, Clarence Burling and Russell Hughes; property men, Arthur Kirbyson and Wm. Young. The following members have since been appointed as representatives from the different sections: Don Langford, Jim Smart and Ralph Denne. The band has had a very successful year playing numerous engagements and are looking forward to a bigger year in 1950.

Lieut. and Mrs. Davis Edwards, Dartmouth, N.S., arrived at their home on Wednesday and are visiting friends in the community.

"Blind as a bat" is an incorrect saying, since bats are not blind.

The Dominion of Canada was established in 1867.

Here it is. Artist's conception of the new look about the Newmarket "Memorial" arena. Front section now in process of erection adds over 30' to overall length.

It will house fine coffee bar, lobby and trophy room, visiting and home teams' dressing rooms. Also included are two dressing rooms for skaters and ample wash-room facilities. At the north end (to the left) is the boiler and ice making equipment room. Above the boiler will be a room large enough to hold hockey meetings, etc. The new section will also house six rows of seats to increase the seating capacity by 500.

Work is going forward rapidly and won't be far from completion by the end of the month. Ice probably will be available by November 25. It is a community project of which all those taking part can well be proud. Artist is Geo. Luesby, Jr.

Couple Found Dead In Parked Car On Aurora Street

Early Sunday morning death claimed the lives of a young couple as they waited for friends in their parked car on Reuben St., Aurora. As they waited with the engine and heater running, poisonous carbon monoxide fumes filled their car. Their friends were waiting, unknown to them, less than 100 feet around the corner.

Dead are Thomas Cooney, Jr., 21, and Mrs. Norma Nastasi, 23, both of Richvale. They were found shortly after 8 a.m. in Cooney's car by William L. Dawson, a close friend of the Cooney family. The car was parked in front of Dawson's home. According to Mr. Dawson, he was awakened by his wife who "thought it strange that a car should be parked with the engine running in front of their home at that early hour."

Mr. Dawson, who holds a St. John Ambulance certificate in first aid, told of going outside to investigate. "I tried the driver's door first, but it was locked," he said. "The door on the other side was locked too, but the window was open nearly six inches. I reached in and opened the door. I slapped the girl's face to try to awaken her. There was no movement. Then I tried her pulse. She was dead. I reached over and felt the man's pulse. There was no sign of life."

Thought them celebrants. First to see the dead couple was Bert Armitage who was delivering milk for the Aurora Dairy. "The man was sitting behind the wheel with his mouth open," Armitage told police. "I thought they were sleeping off a party, and drove on. I couldn't hear the car engine because my own truck was running."

Cooney was well-known in local wrestling circles. He had attended an Aurora recreation commission dance at the Aurora high school with Mrs. Nastasi Saturday evening. Following the dance the couple had lunch in the Aurora Coffee Shop, and then left to meet Donna Sheyne, 17, Aurora, and Bob Jordan, 22, Richvale. They planned to drive

The purchase of the Webb home at 126 Main St., Newmarket, for use as a public library was urged by the library board at a meeting of council Monday night. Dr. C. E. VanderVoort, spokesman for the board, offered the idea as an alternative to having a library in the fire hall building if and when it is to be vacated.

The house, owned by Mrs. Dr. A. Webb, is a large brick building which stands across from Trinity United church, on the south of the Bell Telephone Co. office.

The board advised council to take action quickly so that an architect could be employed to ensure that the building would be suitable for modifications. Present sale price of the house, barn and gardens at the rear is $18,000.

Council named a committee of A. D. Evans, Lorne Paynter and Tom Birrell, which is meeting tonight with the library board committee of Mrs. W. R. Stephens, Dr. VanderVoort and Ted Gould.

Dr. VanderVoort said that the ground floor would be as large as the present library and that the upstairs could be used as a meeting hall. It was thought the meeting hall could be used to show educational films for children and adults. There is a third floor in the building and a large dry basement. He said that the York Historical Society is anxious to store records of local history and manuscripts in Newmarket and that the building would be ideal for that purpose.

Mayor Vale stated that he was personally enthusiastic in the purchase of the building for a library. "So far," he said, "we have no place to store any historical documents in Newmarket."

Councillor Birrell advised the board to consider whether it would be better to have the library included in a future municipal building which, he predicted, might be brought about by the renovation of the town hall.

10-Year Franchise For Nkt. Bus Lines To Be Voted On

A ten-year franchise for the Newmarket Bus Lines was authorized by town council at a meeting Monday night when a by-law passed the third reading. The by-law will not come into force until the municipal elections in favor of it.

Since the bus line was started, it has operated under a license but the franchise would limit the operation of a service in town to the Newmarket Bus Lines only.

Mayor Vale said that the agreement between the town and the bus lines, in effect, means that the franchise would continue for ten years as long as the bus lines were operating a satisfactory service to the town. If they are not, the franchise would be discontinued and the operation of the bus line would be under a license again. In that case a competitor could start a service.

Councillor Bowser argued that not all people in town were getting bus service and asked how they could vote for it.

It was pointed out that the bus could not go out Gorham St. because there was no place for it to turn around. There were suggestions that a service be

Start to Lay Pipe In Aurora Arena, Say Ice in 21 Days

This Thursday saw the John Inglis Company of Toronto begin the installation of artificial ice piping in the Aurora Memorial Arena. On Wednesday the bed of sand received its final rolling and was ready for the cribbing to be laid. The pipes are laid on top of the cribbing. It is estimated that the installation of the artificial ice equipment and pipes will be completed, with ice available, in 21 days. This includes the laying of an asphalt hot mix flooring over the pipes. All that will remain to be done is the completion of the addition to the front of the arena. Although plans have not been formally announced, reliable sources hold that the work on this phase of the project will commence very shortly.

DR. EDWARDS JOINS CLINIC AS SPECIALIST

Dr. J. C. R. Edwards, Newmarket, has joined the staff of the Newmarket Clinic on Main St. where he will continue his general practice and specialize as consultant surgeon. The present staff of the clinic includes Dr. L. W. Dales, Dr. J. W. Dales, general practitioners, and Dr. B. L. Sinclair, oculist.

Dr. Edwards has practised in Newmarket for the past 20 years with the exception of five years in the army. He was discharged with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

Dr. Edwards, who has increasingly specialized in surgery, is now attending meetings of the Ambulatory Fracture Association held in Toronto, and Assembly of the International College of Surgeons to be held in Philadelphia and Atlantic City. He will return on Nov. 15 and will be in his office in the clinic from that date.

Medical clinics have been established in many centres. The members of the clinics retain their private practices but their patients have the benefit of the combined skills, experience, and training of the other members of the clinic. By pooling their resources, the members of the clinics are able to invest in the latest of medical equipment for the study of and treatment for illnesses.

MONDAY ALARM

The fire alarm in Newmarket at noon Monday was a call to the Canadian Oil Company storage station near the railway station. An electric motor used for pumping had become overheated in a small building near storage tanks. No damage was done.

SHOOTS BEAR

W. M. "Moff" Cockburn, agricultural representative at Newmarket, shot a young bear last week while hunting at Pickering River.

PARKING METERS

Some equipment for parking meters in Newmarket has already arrived in town. The town council has passed a by-law to install meters made by the M-Co meter manufacturers in Montreal.

Last Monday night, the contract had not been signed at council meeting for the meter because official approval had not yet been received from the department of highways. It is expected that the contract will be signed by next Monday night and that the installations will proceed.

The boy, wanted by the Newmarket police, is 18 years old, has light brown hair, brushed straight back, 5 feet, ten inches, and 165 pounds, fair complexion, brown eyes. He has been able to cash large cheques for goods after giving merchants the impression he attends Pickering College.

The wardens' banquet will be held on Friday of this week in the Crystal Ballroom of the King Edward hotel.

Newmarket Optimists Receive Charter, Pledge Service To Boy

The Newmarket Optimist club held its charter night dinner at the King George hotel on Tuesday night. L. M. Dalgliesh, past international vice president, London, presented the charter to Jos. O. Dales, president of the Newmarket club. Officers were installed by J. C. Purdy, Keswick, past district lieutenant-governor.

Words of welcome were heard from Mayor Joseph Vale and greetings from the Newmarket Lions club through president Arthur Evans. Guest speaker was Tom Kendall, vice chairman of extension, Toronto club, and past president of the London Optimist club. He told of the beginning of Optimist International in 1911, its rapid growth during the depression years and during the last war.

"There are between 700 and 800 clubs now," he said. "They are in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba and Puerto Rico. Optimists have affected the lives of over half a million boys. They are definitely doing something of a constructive nature for boys."

Among the objectives of Optimism, he said, is one to promote an active interest in good government, international accord and friendship among people.

"There is considerable strife in the world but we must recognize that good things come to the top and that there is a solution to every problem. Optimism is bringing about friendships that will promote peace. It is the opinion that everything in nature is made for the best," said Mr. Kendall.

"In this club, businessmen can share and contribute to the lives of children. Even if only constructive thinking is done for the first year, the spirit of optimism and good citizenship will have been started.

"If you make people think what you want them to think, they'll do what you want them to do. Stalin seems to be doing that but we must recognize that he will do so only as long as he keeps his people uninformed. We must inform all that we live and breathe and act optimistically."

"The club must have a knowledge of the work it must do, it must have imagination or it will fail to inspire others," he said.

The club was presented with the Union Jack, Stars and Stripes and gavel and gong by Herbert T. Barnes, West Toronto president. Dr. Gordon Dobbin, Downtown Toronto president, and Clayton Purdy, Keswick president. In receiving the gifts, Joseph Dales said that the Newmarket club "would certainly live up to the slogan, 'Friend of the Boy'."

Sponsors of the Newmarket Optimist club are the West Toronto Optimists. In Newmarket, vice presidents are John C. Hamilton, Harley Brennan; secretary, J. Struthers; treasurer, Ken Flett; chaplain, Rev. J. T. Rhodes, and sergeant-at-arms, J. Morley Hunter.

Board Approves Wing Proposal For Sutton School

The Newmarket-Sutton district high-school board last week approved a proposal for an addition to the Sutton high school where vocational training could be given high school students. The board earlier approved such a wing for the Newmarket high school.

The proposal for the Sutton school was a building 102' x 40' to be added to the north end of the school building. It would include a gymnasium and two class-rooms, one on the ground floor for shop work and a second storey room for home economics.

The Newmarket high school wing proposal is a three-storey building with shop work taught on the ground floor, home economics on the second floor and agriculture on the third floor. The addition of the extra rooms to both schools will mean that each student will have an increased opportunity to profit from his secondary school education.

It has been demonstrated repeatedly that where only academic teaching is provided, only ten percent of the students who enter high school graduate. Newmarket high school also provides commercial courses, and both

Sutton and Newmarket provide a certain amount of teaching in agriculture. The addition of the new rooms will permit teaching in practical subjects which, when brought into the existing curriculum, will provide through the two schools teaching in every secondary school subject from preparation for university to business, agriculture and vocational training.

Worked out in terms of yearly cost, it will mean approximately a third of a mill a year on the taxes of the average taxpayer. Total cost to the area will be $4,000 a year. Newmarket, heaviest taxpayer in the area, will pay about $1,000 a year, with the cost to the remaining municipalities scaled down proportionately. With the department of education paying 75 percent of the total cost, there remains only $50,000 to be paid over 20 years by the municipalities in the area.

Community Observes Couple's Anniversary

Thanksgiving Day, October 10, marked the 50th anniversary of the wedding day of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Thompson, Holland Landing.

This event was celebrated in company of relatives and friends at a supper which was held within the confines of the old United church, which has served the community for over 107 years. An "At Home" followed at the residence of the happy couple.

Relatives and close friends to the number of 100 persons from various parts of the county and province renewed life-long friendships at the festive board in a setting of "mums and roses, and a decorative design most suitable to the occasion.

The three-tier wedding cake, baked especially for the occasion by Mrs. Thompson, graced the centre of the table. Members of the Ladies' Aid catered.

At the head table, under the chairmanship of Rev. Mr. McTavish of the church, the bride and groom of 50 years were seated in company with sons and their wives, two grandchildren, also Mrs. McCallum, Mrs. Janet Penrose, mother of Mrs. Oliver Thompson, Mrs. McTavish and Canon MacConachie. Mrs. Thompson was radiant in a black crepe dress with white carnation corsage, hat to match, and black suede shoes. Mr. Thompson was in finest form, evincing keenest appreciation of the spirit of good will that pervaded the occasion.

A toast to the bride and groom was proposed by Rev. Mr. McTavish during which he paid highest tribute to the keen interest taken by the worthy couple through the course of a life-time in the progress of the work of the church in this community.

Mr. Thompson, in the course of his reply, recalled briefly that 50 years ago on a colorful autumn day, identical to that of the anniversary, Miss Mary Sidney Keffer had accompanied him to the Methodist parsonage of the late Rev. Mr. Brown at Queensville. There a simple wedding was celebrated.

On behalf of the Clark relationship, former Principal Bruce Clark of Runnymede Collegiate expressed congratulations and continued joy and happiness throughout the rest of their lives. Of particular interest in the fact that Mrs. Thompson's mother was a member of this family whose antecedents settled near Stouffville in very early pioneer times.

Rev. Wm. Henbest of Holland Landing, who has been very closely identified with the church for many years, spoke of the kindly ties that unite this couple with the people of the church and community. Rev. Mr. McMath of Newmarket recalled humorously business connections with Mr. Thompson during the war loan drive. He conveyed on behalf of friends in Newmarket district sincerest good wishes.

Many neighbors and friends from Bradford, Holland Landing, Sharon, Queensville, Newmarket and Aurora, as well as from more distant points in the county dropped in between 7 p.m. and 10 p.m. when the happy couple held open house. From many friends and relatives who found themselves unable to come, a great number of cards conveyed the spirit of good will.

The summer residents of River Drive Park, at an earlier date, in anticipation of this happy event, made presentation of a lovely table lamp engraved in gold.

Presentation of a small table, of exquisite design, and a basket of roses, was made at the conclusion of the Thanksgiving evening service at the United church by the members.

31 Blind Persons Assisted By Newmarket Committee

Mrs. J. E. Morris, Newmarket, was re-elected chairman of the Newmarket and District Advisory committee, The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, at the annual meeting of that committee held recently at Trinity United church. Other officers re-elected for the ensuing year were: H. A. Jackson, vice-chairman; Mrs. Elman W. Campbell, secretary; A. C. Lord, treasurer, and Mrs. C. S. Gilbert, welfare convener.

During the past 12 months, 31 blind persons in Newmarket and district have been assisted through the efforts of the local committee. These services included home teaching, free use of Braille and talking books, radio service, distribution of white canes, relief in cash or kind for the needy blind, distribution of Christmas gifts, home visitation and other services.

In connection with eye service and prevention of blindness treatment, the local committee supplied five pairs of glasses, sponsored eight trips to hospitals and doctors in Toronto, and arranged 14 eye examinations.

The cost of providing these services, according to a financial report read by the treasurer, Mr. Lord, amounted to $1,822.69, while the revenue from the district in the form of special contributions and tag day proceeds amounted to $1,724.78.

Ten and cookies served after the meeting were donated by the ladies. Among those present were Mrs. J. E. Morris, Mrs. J. W. Coates, Mrs. C. S. Gilbert, Mrs. W. A. McCaffrey, Mrs. E. man W. Campbell, Mrs. P. F. Winch, Mr. H. A. Jackson, Mr.

East Gwill. Council Protests Bell Increase 'While Showing Profit'

The regular November meeting of East Gwillimbury council was held in Sharon hall. All members were present.

The trustees of the police village of Queensville requested that the council present a petition to county council for the purpose of extending the village limits.

The fire marshal has sent a representative to the villages of Holland Landing and Mount Albert. At the Mount Albert meeting he advised that the township be divided into fire areas. The problem was discussed at council but no action was taken.

The clerk was instructed to advertise that the fallen timber caused by the marsh fire will be sold by tender on east half of lot 120, east of Yonge St.

The council has sent a protest to Ottawa against the raising of telephone rates, so long as the company shows a profit.

The clerk was instructed to notify the department of planning and development that the council approves of the newly surveyed plan of J. S. Osborne on lot 5, con. 2, and recommended to the department that it be registered.

The court of revision of the new assessments made under 57A of the Assessment Act will be held on December 15 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

A by-law was passed for the purpose of issuing debentures on school section No. 11 for improvements made to the school.

Nomination of candidates for 1950 council will be held on Friday, Nov. 25, at Sharon Hall.

SALE AVERAGES $694

You CAN still find people who "don't believe in banks" . . . who keep their cash in old coffee pots, or hide it in the woodpile, or carry it around.

But most folk nowadays keep their money in bank accounts. They can get it whenever they want it; and they can pay their bills by cheque. Canadians have more than seven million such deposit accounts. In terms of Canada's adult population, that makes it practically unanimous.

The banks, in turn, know they must earn this confidence by giving you the best service they know how.

Today you can take your account to any bank you choose. And what is in your bank book is strictly between you and your bank. It is your own private business.

James Scott, book editor of the Toronto Telegram, tells of an incident relating to the publication of "Andy Clarke and His Neighbourly News." The men who had help bring the book out—Dan McArthur of the CBC, Gillis Purcell of Canadian Press, Greg Clark, Frank McIntyre, editor of the Dundalk Herald, and others—brought the first copy off the press to Mrs. Clarke.

"And when the book was unwrapped and passed from hand to hand for all to see, it was just as if Andy himself was back there," writes Scott. There was quite an evening of talk about the book and about Andy and when all the talk was over and Mrs. Clarke suggested they go downstairs for something to eat, "almost everybody in that people-filled room realized at the same time that the big comfortable chair in the corner—Andy's chair—had been unoccupied during the entire evening." But, writes Scott, "I don't think it was empty."

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation has been continually criticized since its establishment—and with considerable reason because some of the policies which animate it, and some of the practices it follows, vary from the foolish to the extreme.

For all of that, the CBC does have merit which in the long run outweighs most of its faults. We are thinking particularly about the Wednesday Night program, a weekly series dedicated to the proposition that there are intelligent listeners who would enjoy something else than soap opera, comedians with accents and give-away programs.

It is a daring proposition really. The directors of mediums for mass communications demonstrate a cynical, and apparently acceptable, attitude towards what is called the average intelligence of radio and newspaper audiences which places it about the level of a 12 to 14-year-old. To admit that the level might be higher is foolishness of the worst sort. That kind of foolishness on the CBC is thoroughly acceptable.

What Of The Hope Report

The changes in the educational system, announced by the minister, the Hon. Dana Porter, last week, are said by him to be the result of many years of experiments. When asked if they anticipated the Hope Commission report, he is reported to have replied: "We haven't seen the Hope report, we don't know what it will say or whether there is yet such a report."

The Hope Commission on Education was appointed in March, 1945, under the chairmanship of Mr. Justice John A. Hope. The report of this commission has been waited for with some anxiety in educational circles. There have been, from time to time, intimations that it would contain recommendations of importance to the whole Ontario system of education.

With the Hope report pending, it would seem reasonable to expect some connection between the commission's findings and changes of such scope as those announced by the minister. After four years of investigation of the educational system in Ontario, the Hope Commission should be in a position to offer considerable assistance to Mr. Porter's experts in initiating such changes. But Mr. Porter, although minister of education and expected to be conversant with the activities of commissions on education, does not, as noted above, even know whether there is a commission report.

The public will be pardoned if it wonders about the status of the Hope Commission on Education.

Canadianizing The Navy

The report of the enquiry into the causes of the disturbances aboard Royal Canadian Navy ships last summer indicates that the Canadian navy is excessively dependent upon Royal Navy tradition and practice. The Hon. Brooke Claxton, minister of defence, has assured the House of Commons that this is being corrected. Maple Leaf emblems are being painted on the funnels of all Canadian navy ships and other 'Canadianization' steps will follow.

Excessive dependence upon borrowed tradition and practice is not a fault which is confined to the navy alone. There are numerous instances in our national life where, figuratively speaking, maple leaves should be painted to indicate they are, or should be, Canadian. Constitutional measures have been taken, still others are pending, which will make Canada increasingly independent. But true independence is not a matter of constitution; it is a state of mind. Canada will never be wholly adult until its people are conscious first of being Canadians before they remember their ancestry.

Down With Trade Barriers

Ever since the end of the war, North America has loaned money to European countries so that they may buy in North America. In effect, we have subsidized our own export trade, without which we cannot prosper. This practice was necessary in the immediate post-war period; to continue it now is to invite economic suicide.

While generous with our aid, we have made it almost impossible for our debtors to repay us. Europe must trade with the North American countries if it is to earn the dollars with which to repay its borrowings. But North American tariff barriers are so restrictive that it is almost impossible for Europe to sell on the North American market. It is an economic paradox: we have loaned to people willing and able to repay us but we have done everything possible to discourage that payment.

The result has been that not only is Europe unable to resume trading on a scope which would earn its credit, but European countries have been, in the words of Mr. Donald Gordon, "driven to prop up their own economies with more and more controls, more and more restrictions, more and more bilateral deals."

North America cannot continue to loan to Europe indefinitely, and Europe cannot be restored to some measure of prosperity unless it can trade with North America. The answer is obvious: the whole tangle of restrictive tariffs must be cleared away and trade allowed to find its natural channel.

The difficulties to such a course are immediate. Someone is always hurt, at least temporarily, when tariffs are reduced, and there is little time lost in communicating this hurt to the elected representatives. "There will be millions of understanding people," says The Financial Post, "who accept the principle of freeing trade—so long as the freeing process affects somebody else, not them."

But these difficulties must be overcome for there is no other alternative. Without a prosperous Europe, able to purchase North American products, there will be no prosperity in North America. And Europe cannot be prosperous unless it can sell in North America.

Increases Justified

The protests against the proposed increases in Bell Telephone rates, entered by the municipalities, appear to us ill-advised. The increases sought by the company, some 20 percent, are not individually onerous and demonstrably necessary to maintain and expand the company's services. This is the first change in rates the company has asked for in over 20 years. Everything else has increased in price. It is not unreasonable that the Bell Telephone Company should require a greater revenue too.

If the increase is not granted, then a curtailment of phone service seems indicated to bring costs into line with income. Alternatively, it has been suggested that the increase be absorbed by the government in the form of a subsidy, or going a step further, the government should take over the company. Neither of these two proposals is going to materially reduce the Bell Telephone company's need for increased income. The only difference would be that instead of the telephone users paying the increased costs, the whole country would pay in the form of taxation.

It would be more to the point to commend the company for maintaining its present rate structure for so long instead of protesting an increase which is quite reasonable when compared to the increases other commodities have undergone in the last five years or so.

Criticism Of Medals

The Fort Erie Times-Review is critical of the campaign medals being sent to veterans of the last war in that they do not carry the names and regimental numbers of the recipients. It is a sound criticism. The minister of veterans' affairs has said that it was to avoid further delay that the medals were sent out without the names and numbers. It would take another two years to add this data.

"Most men who served will agree that the extra two years would be well worth it," comments the Fort Erie paper, "and it would mean the difference between mass-produced trinkets and personal souvenirs of war service. Two more years of waiting, after the four that have already passed, would be of no consequence."

The editorial concludes: "It is not too late to correct what has evidently been an error in judgment on the part of the government. Distribution of the three and one-half million medals involved cannot have proceeded very far, and those already sent out could be called back in for engraving. Otherwise the medals, which should be a source of quiet pride to those who won them, will have little more intrinsic value than the one cent pieces turned out at the same source."

Giving Birds The Bird

The United Kingdom Information Bulletin informs us that collisions between airplanes and birds over the Prestwick and Renfrew airports in Scotland have prompted wide interest in "bird-scaring experiments" which are being carried out at the former place.

The Bulletin continues: "The Chinese have used fire crackers for thousands of years to scare away evil spirits. In Britain the idea has been taken up to scare birds from orchards, nursery gardens and crops. And now United Kingdom fireworks manufacturers are adopting the idea for airfield use. Lengths of light rope strung between poles on the airfield act as fuses to explode—at pre-set intervals—a series of crackers strung along the ropes. Each cracker gives a loud report which will probably scare off birds to a distance of 400 yards. A chain of crackers can be made up to last eight hours with detonations every 15 minutes. Materials for this method have the merit of being cheap to manufacture, available in quantity and requiring very little attention. No specialist operators are needed."

Our nomination as the most ambiguous news broadcast of the year is the following, heard on CBE last Sunday night: "Russia said her aim was peace, that another war would mean the end of capitalism."

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of those activities which rest on individual choice.

Office Cat reports Catnips By Ginger

Simon has broken faith. The heroic ship's cat of the Royal Navy Sloop Amethyst and only holder of the Ginger Award for Merit, a can of genuine first grade sardines, jumped ship in Plymouth and spent the night roistering in sailor dens. He rolled back to ship at dawn and settled down for a lengthy nap but the damage has been done. There is a black mark against his splendid record under fire.

How thrilled the world was to read how Ginger dauntlessly continued about his business of catching mice aboard ship while it was under the fire of the Chinese communists in the Yangtze River last summer. His gallantry caught the eye of the People's Dispensary for Sick Animals and on its behalf, the Dicken Medal, the animal V.C., was hung about his neck with great ceremony by Lady Burnett.

Now this. Carousing without leave in the streets. It has been claimed on Simon's behalf that his nocturnal adventure was simply a case of war nerves, that the essential nobility of our hero's spirit was unimpaired by this little adventure. There are even those who smile tolerantly and say, "Ah, these navy men."

Possibly so. But Simon has a responsibility to society. Perhaps, by now, he has atoned. Perhaps now he sees the error of his ways. But I always think how much better it is not to have anything to atone for.

Boss, some of our columnists take pleasure in submitting lengthy stories about their weekend trips here and there. One in particular spent three weeks telling about a trip a couple of counties over. But for kids like us who really get around, it's small potatoes. The only argument I have heard to justify such tedious volumes of travel matter is that shut-ins can enjoy the columnist's trip just as if he were on it with him.

I have regarded these long columns for some time and decided that it has come to the time when you shall hear of a Gingerian weekend in three paragraphs. So listen, my children, and you shall hear of the trip to put all columnists to shame, and you are not alone, Mrs. Woman's editor.

Isabella and I set off for a big lake 50 miles northeast of Peterboro on Saturday morning. Did we enjoy the scenery? No. We went at such a break-neck speed that there was no scenery to be seen. Besides the cold steamed up the windows too much. Arriving at the destination, we found an inch of snow on the frozen ground.

We pitched the little tent and unpacked the U.S. army Alaska-issue sleeping bags. Purpose of the trip, by the way, was to store a canoe for the winter. It was so cold that the bacon grease went stiff as soon as the frying pan was lifted off the fire. Night came fast and we crawled into the sleeping bags at 7.30 and since we were wearing those sets of army issue "wood fibre" long underwear, scratched all night.

Incidentals on the trip were running out of gas ten miles from the nearest service station. We hitched a ride in on a jeep, the only other vehicle we ever did see on the road. It was a freezing ride. Isabella became black and blue after she was knocked over shooting at a loon with a .303 army rifle. Bear tracks in the snow kept us half awake all night. A porcupine gnawed part of our paddle handle off.

So, shut-ins, fret not. Be glad you can stay at home in a nice warm house on a weekend.

Just when and why the phrase "hick farmer" started we don't know. It's used to convey the idea that the farmer is not mentally as alert as other people. We wonder if to some degree the farmer does contribute to this way of thinking.

We have farmers dealing and selling to buyers at the farm and receiving 60 percent below market price. Farmers, taking and believing that supply and demand will adjust our farm problems, when we have so much evidence from commissions in the past that there is no control over farm produce after it leaves the farmer. Other farmers say there is nothing that can be done. We are working under a vicious system of doing business.

What we must have is collective thinking by farmers. We farmers have the opportunity to train ourselves in collective thinking by attending our farm forum. But we have individual farmers working longer hours, keeping more stock, thinking that in this way they can increase their income. We see a system of doing business being built within our present vicious system, that allows and sees to it that producer as well as consumer has a fair price.

Some buyers consider it their right and privilege to offer and buy below any reasonable price from the farmer. This class of buyer will be controlled. We, in our farm forum, try to stimulate collective thinking and to follow it up by collective action. But we have farmers who will not attend forums because there is no entertainment and those who want to rush the discussion period through to get at a game of cards. Such actions by farmers make us wonder if the farmer is a little different from other people.

One thing we must all remember is that true friendship is in knowing and seeing each other's short-comings and being able to speak out and still retain friendship.

We find in labor unions that members expect almost the impossible from their leaders. They expect because their dues are collected that there is no need to attend meetings. The only difference between labor unions and farmers is that labor pays $1.00 or more a month while farmers pay, in many cases, nothing.

The consumers of farm produce are demanding a reduction in price. We cannot help but think that the public should begin to consider what is in the food. Five years ago we have been fed balanced rations. We find in eggs an excellent source of vitamin A, vitamin B2, vitamin D, a good source of vitamin B1, good sources of iron and high quality protein. To buy these vitamins over the drug store counter would run into many dollars.

In feeding cattle and hogs we find we must have a balanced ration to maintain good health in our stock. Until the present we have never seen milk, butter and meat worked out in vitamins. We have some information along this line with meat and milk but nothing nearly as complete as that of the poultry industry committee. We do know that if our soil does not contain the proper minerals our stock will become unthrifty.

There are so many things that farmers should know about stock raising, soil and marketing. The great majority of farmers have so little interest that they do not want to improve their way of farming and thinking. The public is so short-sighted that it demands a low food policy when they should be demanding that we farmers produce a better food when it is so important that we have the proper vitamins in our food. Cheerio.

DOCTOR'S DILEMMA

OTTAWA LETTER

by
"Jack" Smith, M.P.
North York

Friday is Armistice Day and on Parliament Hill, a service of remembrance will be carried out with the prime minister and other public figures taking part. The service will be held in the shadow of the Peace Tower, which contains the Memorial Chamber wherein rests the golden Book of Remembrance, embossed within it the names of all who gave their lives in World War I. A similar Book of Remembrance to contain names of those who died in World War II is now being prepared but will take many months to complete.

The Book of Remembrance contains 66,851 names on 601 pages. At the hour of Armistice, 11 o'clock each day, the pages are turned so that through the years each name is visible once in 12 months. A date chart is in the warden's keeping and indicates the exact date on which each numbered page lies open so that those who lost loved ones may time their visit to this national shrine of remembrance.

Year after year many make the pilgrimage here, getting at least some comfort from the message of this impressive memorial chamber. Visitors from all over the world are generous in their admiration of this national tribute to our war heroes.

Space does not permit an adequate description of the Memorial Chamber. The floor is laid in stone from those battlefields of France and Flanders with which Canada's name is inseparably linked. The names of some battlefields are sunk into the flooring in brass letters beat from the cases of spent shells, such as Ypres, Mount Sorrel, Somme, Vimy, Hill 70, Arras and Mons.

Window Messages
So skillfully has the chamber been designed that the rich colorings of the stained glass windows constantly cast their reflections throughout the room. The window entitled "The Call to Arms" pictures the warriors gathering and its message reads: "Aquit ye like men; be strong."

"Thou hast girded me with strength unto the battle."
"True worth never knows ignoble defeat shines with undimmed glory."
On the marble wall tablet, beneath, are Kipling's lines:

"They are too near to be great, but our children shall understand how and when our fate was changed and by whose hand. Nor was their agony brief, or once only imposed on them. The wounded, the war-worn, the sick, received no exemption; being cured, they returned, and endured, and

Great Change Seen In Holland Landing As Village Grows

By H. W. TOMES
So much progress has been made in Holland Landing during the last few years that the future of this historic old village seems now so good that I may be pardoned if I indulge in comparisons of condition when I came here 28 years ago and those of today.

In 1921, Yonge St. pavement ended at Eagle St. From there north it was a gravel road which in the spring was in bad shape, making travelling difficult. In 1930, Holland Landing had a population of 300 and was at its lowest ebb. It was not until 1941 that visible signs of progress were noticed. In that year the population rose to 403 and for the benefit of those who have taken up residence in this community during the past few years, I would like to give a brief summary of the activities of the few progressive minded citizens who have been the means of building up this village to the present.

Ratepayers Act
In 1931, a few of the ratepayers got together to discuss ways and means of bettering conditions. After many meetings and much discussion, it was decided to approach the legislative assembly, then under the premiership of Geo. S. Henry. The result was that after a vote of the ratepayers, a private bill was passed whereby Holland Landing would relinquish its status as a municipality and merge into the township of East Gwillimbury and become known as the police village of Holland Landing, retaining its full area of 1,800 acres.

During 1931, I had the honor of being the last reeve of this old village. In 1932 application was made to obtain hydro electric service and within two years power was made available and some of the residents were dis-carding lamps and candles for the more modern lighting, there were a few who had opposed the movement and had expressed their willingness to continue to burn lamps and candles to the end, but it was soon noticed that they had seen the benefits of electricity and were falling in line.

From then on, the progressive movement began in earnest, though hampered somewhat by the depression from which this village suffered a lot.

Upward Trend Starts
It was during the war that the upward trend was most noticeable. Homes were being built or remodelled everywhere and when the boys returned from the war they joined in the progressive movement by buying or building homes and adding to the steadily increasing population which a conservative estimate would place near the 700 mark. It was in 1946 that, with the building of the Goodwin tannery the sound of a factory whistle was heard and the first industry began operations after over 60 years of dormancy. That incident was the realization of the hopes of those in this community who had been anxious to get industries here and regain the prestige held so long ago when Holland Landing was considered one of the thriving villages in York county.

The following year, the Goodwin tannery increased its buildings to double former capacity, its business likewise increased. Hopes were high that other industries would come to this village. These hopes have been realized by the purchase of some 30 acres of land by the Office Specialty Co. and the foundations of a factory whistle was heard and the first industry began operations after over 60 years of dormancy. That incident was the realization of the hopes of those in this community who had been anxious to get industries here and regain the prestige held so long ago when Holland Landing was considered one of the thriving villages in York county.

Needless to say there is a great feeling of optimism in this community. All available men are employed on the project both local and from outside and the old toll road (Bradford road) is a hive of industry. The work is expected to continue through the winter as the contractors are anxious to get as much accomplished before the severe weather sets in. Old residents visiting this village will see a great change. The old council chamber has gone and on the site stands the new community memorial hall, built mostly by voluntary labor. That old council chamber has been the scene of many heated debates that warmed the atmosphere for miles around. (A hotel once stood on the next lot) and the arguments were hot, strong and bitter.

New Look
Main St. has taken on a new look with new homes recently built. The Jarvis booth has been replaced by an attractive store and billiard parlor built by the owner, Peter Walker, a newcomer to the community and one who has gained the respect of all. The youth fondly call him "Pop". A fire engine has been purchased and an engine house built near the Goodwin tannery which is installing steam heating gratis. Last year, the ladies sponsored a Santa Claus parade and are to be congratulated upon the fine showing of nicely decorated floats. Time and space will not permit me to itemize all those who have built new homes in this village. But credit can be given to S. R. Goodwin, W. C. McCallum, Joe Walsh who have built homes for sale or rent, also G. B. Thompson who began building homes some 15 years ago and who four years ago built four cottages on his land at the Queensville sideroad. Today some 70 houses are standing, mostly erected by the efforts of G. B.

The community now has a post office, hydro electric service and efforts are being made to get telephone service.

Churches Improved
The churches, too, are endeavoring to meet the improving conditions. The United church built in 1842 as a Methodist church held its 107th anniversary recently. This church was remodelled 12 years ago, a basement added and modern heating and lighting installed. Christ Anglican church, built a year later in 1843, was remodelled too, 12 years ago and improvements made. The Anglicans are to be commended upon its well kept cemetery and outward appearance. The old "drive in" sheds have been demolished at both churches.

The public school is overcrowded and the trustees are trying to solve the problem of providing accommodation for the increasing number of children attending.

I could continue with many other interesting items. Perhaps some other public spirited citizen will feel enough interest in this community to give his views which would, I know, be of interest to all who have the welfare of their home town at heart.

OBITUARY

William Keith

There was a large funeral at St. Paul's church, Newmarket, Saturday, Nov. 5, when William Keith, after a long useful life, came home to Newmarket to rest in Newmarket cemetery. William Keith will be remembered in town as secretary of Newmarket Agricultural Society. He was reeve of Newmarket for many years and warden of county council, later being elected M.P.P. for the County of York.

He was made magistrate on the death of Col. T. H. Brunton, and retired from public life several years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Keith lived for many years on Victoria Ave., Newmarket, but moved to Toronto after he was made magistrate and lived at 35 Laurier Ave. His failing health of late years culminated in a fall, breaking his hip, which hastened the end. Mrs. Keith is making her home with her son, W. Hargrave Keith, county engineer, at Guelph.

The pallbearers were all county police. In the absence of Rev. J. T. Rhodes, Rector of St. Paul's, Rev. K. D. Whatmough, M.A., Aurora, conducted the service. The many floral tributes testified to the esteem in which he was held. Many of the flowers were later taken to York County hospital.

Charles W. Bull

In poor health for nearly eight years, Charles William Bull, Macchell St., Aurora, died in his 50th year in a Toronto hospital. Born and raised in Newtonbrook, Mr. Bull moved to Aurora in 1910 with his parents, where he finished school. A veteran of both World Wars, he worked as a tanner with the Collis Leather Company for 20 years. With the advent of World War II, Mr. Bull joined the Veterans' Guard. While serving with them up north he took ill, and has been confined to a hospital since.

Interested in sports, especially hunting and fishing, he was a member of the Aurora Anglican church. He is survived by his wife, Hilda Provis, two sons, Theodore of Toronto and Keith of Brighton, and two daughters, Mrs. A. P. Green, Toronto, and Shirley, Aurora. Interment was in the Aurora cemetery Monday afternoon following a semi-military funeral conducted by the Canadian Legion.

Thomas James Hayes

Thomas James Hayes, Mount Albert, died there at the home of his sister, Miss Effie Hayes, on November 2 after a long illness. He was born in Markham in 1871, son of Robert and Elizabeth Hayes. He married Ethel Macfarrell who predeceased him in 1915.

Mr. Hayes worked at carpentry and was an adherent of the United church. He was a member of the Masonic and Orange Lodges.

He is survived by five brothers, Charles and William, Toronto, Ernest, Port Perry, Everet, Ottawa, and Harold, Mount Albert, and two sisters, Mrs. Slack, Winnipeg, and Miss Effie Hayes, Mount Albert.

Funeral service was held at The Chapel, Mount Albert, on November 4, conducted by Rev. C. P. Shapter. Interment was at Mount Albert cemetery.

Foote-Notes

BY WILLIAM FOOTE
AURORA EDITOR

A short time ago we discussed the success attained by the Aurora junior choir. We stressed the need for aesthetic development in a primarily materially-minded world, and expressed the hope that the grand work of the choir would be furthered in every way.

The field of aesthetics includes much more than music. Drama, art, sculpture and literature all have their place and should be given every opportunity for expression.

Nearly every town and city across Canada boasts a dramatic group of some sort. In fact, the amateur theatre is nowhere more widespread than it is in Canada at the present time. Amateur drama is not just a frivolous pastime. It offers education, entertainment and training to both the participants and the audience alike. It goes still further in that as a form of aesthetic expression it lifts both the individual and the group into a new-found realm where beauty and perfection are appreciated in and for themselves, and not regarded solely for their utilitarian value.

Aurora has no such group. This is due in part to a general apathy among those who could lead the way. But Aurora, on the other hand, does not lack participants. The dramatic talent in practically everyone is great. Cloaked 'neath a mantle of self-consciousness, it lies hidden and undeveloped awaiting only to be encouraged.

In so far as stage facilities are concerned, Aurora is decidedly limited. However, despite its limitations, the Aurora high school auditorium could be effectively utilized. Stage properties are not necessarily an expensive item. A small amount of ingenuity goes a long way.

We could have a dramatic group in Aurora. Newmarket has such a group and a highly successful one, too. During its theatre season large audiences demonstrate wholehearted approval and appreciation for its performance.

If a similar dramatic group were formed in Aurora, it would contribute greatly to amateur drama throughout the surrounding area. In time, yearly drama festivals could be held for the area with the winning group participating in provincial or possibly national drama festivals.

Drama should be given an opportunity in Aurora. It is still not too late in the season for an active program to be presented. We, for our part, will do anything possible to aid the formation of such a group and would be pleased to hear from all those interested.

Farm Philosopher says:

"SOMETHING

Successful farmers, today, aren't milking their soil dry, but are maintaining soil fertility by the proper use of balanced plant foods and manure. They are rotating crops, plowing green crops under when necessary, and sweetening soil with lime. And when they have troublesome farm problems they are getting the answers to these from their nearest experimental farm or agricultural college.

Many of these farmers use this Bank because, for 94 years, we have welcomed every opportunity to help responsible farmers improve their farms and increase their earnings. You will enjoy banking at our nearest branch. We invite you to do so.

R. Clifford Dies Following Collision

Following a head-on crash between his truck and an army-type 1,500 wt. truck on the third line near the Newmarket town line last Monday evening, Harry Ronald Clifford, Aurora, died in Toronto General hospital Wednesday afternoon. He was in his 39th year. The other passengers of the Clifford truck, Thomas Weedon and Wilbert Crane, both of Kettleby, were injured.

Mr. Clifford was the proprietor of the Aurora Electric Company during the past one-and-a-half years. Born in Grand Prairie, Alberta, of a pioneering family, he moved to Victoria, B.C., with parents at the age of 15. After finishing school, Mr. Clifford was employed by the International Collieries in Alberta.

Following his marriage to Ann Frederickson in Coleman, Alta., in 1937, Mr. Clifford brought his wife to eastern Canada where he was employed by the Comstock Electrical Construction Company.

N.H.S. STUDENTS ATTEND NOV. 11 OBSERVANCE

About 350 pupils gathered in the auditorium of the Newmarket high school for an impressive service of remembrance this morning. The platform had as a backdrop the Union Jack and on a white draped table were lighted candles and red poppies. Taking part in the service were Rev. Fred Breckon, who gave the call to worship and pronounced the benediction, Rev. M. E. R. Boudreau who led the gathering in prayer, Rev. J. T. Rhodes who read the Scripture and Rev. Henry Cotton who gave the address.

Miss Roberts read the names of the boys from the high school who had given their lives in the last two wars. Reid Bell, president of the Student Council, and David Preston, president of the Literary Society, placed the wreath accompanied by Helen Shelestowski and George Case, presidents of the Athletic Societies. The Last Post and Reveille were sounded by Jack Shropshire.

Speaking to the hushed gathering of young people, Mr. Cotton began his address: "Thirty-one years ago tomorrow, on the 11th day of the 11th month, 1918, the buglers had received orders to sound 'the cease fire'. That message flashed around the world. It was the first Armistice Day.

"Why do we perpetuate Remembrance Day? Because we want to remember our freedom was bought with a great price. Were it not for these sacrifices we would be heavers of wood and drawers of water. It is not good enough for us just to remember them. We must live to be worthy of their sacrifice."

The following are the names of the boys from this school who died in two world wars: Ivan H. Atkins, W. Gerald Blight, Caldwell Brown, Reginald R. Brunton, Eugene D. Burrows, A. S. Collingwood.

Harold E. Cook, Ross F. Cook, Henry C. Douse, Mons W. Gardiner, George H. Germain, Albert Glover.

R. Stewart Hillary, Clifford T. Johnson, Gert W. Larsen, Jack Luck, John H. MacNeil, William J. McTavish, Willard Madden; John H. Morgan, Charles R. Morley, Cyril O. Morrison, Henry W. Penrose, William M. Piper, James A. Ralston; Alan J. Retter (missing, presumed dead), Jack Revell, Jeffrey Robertson, Irvine D. Ross, John C. Rowland, Harold Steckley, Donald Stewart, E. Townsley Watson.

BELL'S CORNERS TO BE MODERN TOURIST CENTRE

Work is well under way towards the establishment of a large size business settlement at the corner of Davis Dr. and Yonge St. Sixteen acres on the north-east corner were purchased by Earl R. Bell, Newmarket, and George W. Carr, Toronto, and on eight of them, they are building a service station, coffee shop and dining-room.

"They intend to add a 'motel' for overnight tourist accommodation as soon as possible.

"Our establishment will be known as Bell's Corners," said Mr. Bell. "We intend to provide a high class tourist service and do some catering as well."

George Constable is building at the same corner a show-room for International Harvester products. A Quonset type building is already under construction. Mr. Constable is also building his home at the same site.

A well has been drilled on a property and is bringing a good flow from 267 ft.

Mr. Bell was formerly with the Great West Life Insurance Company. Before the war, he had some experience in tourist service in the United States. He returned to Canada to enlist in the R.C.A.F. and when discharged, was employed by the Great West. He has been in Newmarket the past year or so. He purchased the property at Yonge and Davis Dr. in September and began work as soon as possible after.

The brothers and sisters of the late Ralph Hilborn wish to express to relatives, friends and neighbors their sincere thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness, messages of sympathy and beautiful floral tributes extended to them in the loss of a dear brother, and Rev. W. E. Smalley for his comforting words.

'Farmers For The Future' Stars 63 Juniors On Screen

Sixty-three young "actors and actresses" who made up the cast of "Farmers for the Future" and who had never faced a movie camera before this summer took a bow in Stratford Monday following the first showing of the film in the collegiate auditorium. All are members of the Junior Farmers' Association of Ontario.

Sponsored by the Junior Farmers' Association, the film describes the work and aims of that organization whose members are young people between the ages of 18 and 30 years. Produced by an oil company to help the association in its educational program, it was presented at the premiere by J. G. Dunlop, Ontario divisional manager, on behalf of the company. The film will be available free of charge to farm youth groups in Ontario. Later it will be distributed on a national scale.

school room space that the new public school will provide, it was pointed out. "We couldn't be better off for initiating this new scheme if it is as has been reported," board members said.

The minister's announcement came as a surprise to education officials. So far, there has been no formal instructions issued from the department and teachers, and school board officials have only newspapers reports to go on.

Better Education
A. N. Belugin, Newmarket, chairman of the Newmarket-Sutton district high school board, said that the changes in the education system, announced by Hon. Dana Porter last week, will "mean a better education for the students."

Mr. Belugin said that the elimination of distinctions between secondary and elementary schools would end the difficulty students have of adjusting themselves to secondary school after leaving public school.

"It would appear that the grouping of the grades means there will be greater consistency between public and high school curriculums," he said, "making it easier for student and teacher."

KETTLEBY

Jordan home.

While Jordan and Miss Sheyne waited for them in front of a tourist home, Cooney and Mrs. Nastasi were waiting around the corner. Cooney was sitting behind the wheel of the car, while Mrs. Nastasi was leaning against the right front door. The window beside her was open nearly six inches, as was the no-draft window on her side.

Today's premiere was attended by representatives of the Ontario government, provincial department of agriculture, and Junior Farmers' clubs throughout the province. The Perth county Junior Farmers' choir of 45 voices opened the program at which members of the cast were introduced to the audience by T. R. Hillard, Newmarket, assistant director of extension and secretary-treasurer of the Junior Farmers' Association. C. D. Graham, deputy minister of agriculture for Ontario, spoke briefly. At a dinner preceding the premiere the stars of the picture were presented with radios in appreciation of their work.

Tailpipe Missing

According to Chief F. Dunham, Aurora, the tailpipe leading from the car's exhaust was missing and the floor boards were jotted. Friends of the young couple believe they turned on the heater to keep warm and left the engine running in order to keep the battery charged. Following an autopsy performed in Aurora by Dr. J. L. Urquhart, coroner Dr. G. W. Williams announced "the findings of the autopsy show death to have been caused by carbon monoxide poisoning."

Cooney wrestled his last match on the previous Friday. Last spring he formed a wrestling club with a partner, Edwin (Red) Garner, Richvale. "Tommy loved fun," said Garner. "Only last week he told me that he'd hate to be dead because he was having so much fun." Well known as a wrestler throughout York county, Cooney played lacrosse for the Newmarket intermediate B team last spring. Although he was the leading league scorer, he gave up lacrosse in order to devote his full time to wrestling. Cooney, who operated a service station with his father, is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cooney, and two sisters.

Mrs. Nastasi, born in Cleveland but raised in Ontario, had been staying with her mother, Mrs. Lela Finch, who had been seriously ill for a number of weeks. She is survived by her husband, Norman Nastasi, a daughter, Sharon, three, her mother and a sister, Maxine.

IT'S A Woman's World

By CAROLINE E. ION

December 1 is drawing nearer and with the passing of each week more and more enthusiasm is being shown in the community bazaar planned for that date. "The co-operation and interest shown in the project is amazing," said Mrs. Ted Mitchell, who originated the idea. Invitations were sent to all town and church organizations to participate with the understanding that 15 percent of all money raised will go to the piano fund for Prince Charles school.

Mrs. Mitchell said that to date everyone has been willing to follow along with that scheme and all fully endorse the idea behind the bazaar—to provide an outlet for the top-quality handicrafts made in our community. If the success of this year's venture warrants it, the community bazaar will become a regular annual affair.

The Handcraft Group is handling the display and sale of a wide range of hand-made articles. From the regular members will come hand-woven bags, aprons, place mats and many, many more items together with knitted articles, smoked dresses and the wide variety of first class produce which has characterized their organization. Also, it will handle the work of many others who because of illness are unable to attend the bazaar in person. Some of these persons derive their entire income from the handwork which they sell. There will be baby layettes made by Miss Mollie Mason, leather tooling in wallets, key cases and purses by Mr. Warner and pretty booties from Mrs. Lester.

Other individuals and groups will handle their own tables. Rudy Renzius and his daughter, Renee, will have an interesting display of their crafts which will feature work in silver, pewter and wood. There is the promise that there will be everything from costume jewelry to creams and sugars at this booth.

Mrs. Herbert Goudhoofd, who arrived in Canada about two years ago from Holland, will give a demonstration of rug making and will have a display of imported wools together with illustrations of many of her original knitting ideas and patterns.

Mrs. G. F. McCannan will have a table of handwork which will feature her stuffed toy animals. Mr. Frank VandenBergh has been working for months for this bazaar and promises to have a wide range of blind-craft articles ready for December 1. And there is Mr. Hood who during his recent stay in hospital learned the craft of wicker tray weaving. From some of the samples which he showed us last week on Main St., his demonstration should be interesting.

The Girl Guides will have a table of novelties and homemade candy. The Evening Branch of the W.A. of St. Paul's church will have its own table with handwork and perhaps some pickles and baking. If there is the smell in the air of really good things to eat, it won't be necessary to look far for the source. Besides the two booths just mentioned, there will be a bake table from the Catholic Women's League and another from the Home and School Association. Tea will be served from 2 to 5 p.m. and from 7 to 10 p.m. by the latter organization. Mrs. Ted Mitchell will convene the Home and School's efforts for the bazaar and Mrs. Lou Bovair will be in charge of the Handcraft Group's part of the proceedings. The local art group has promised a wide selection of its water colors and oils for the show and there are several other displays which are expected. Everyone is welcome to enter their work and if they want it handled by the Handcraft Group it must be left with Mrs. Herman Bennett, Millard Ave., before November 29.

Sounds like big doings for the first of December, doesn't it? No wonder there is great interest being shown in the idea. For here is the answer to the long-felt need for a market for the Christmas trade of handicrafts. Here is the opportunity for talented local people to make some extra money by their workmanship for these articles at the bazaar will be for sale and not just on display. At the same time, it provides an opportunity to help raise funds for the piano which will be needed in the new public school and it gives the citizens of Newmarket who are interested in purchasing handicraft articles as gifts a wide range from which to make their selection.

We like the spirit of co-operation which is evident in these plans. It follows the typical Newmarket way of doing things together—such as the Singer showing of fall garments in October, the Halloween party, the Horticultural Society's sponsored glad show and display of Main St. merchandise, just to mention a few recent endeavors. There is still a great deal of work to do before the project can become a success. There always is with any such large scale undertaking, but with all those who are interested in the community bazaar doing their share, it should prove to be a milestone in the achievement of local hobby enthusiasts.

Hall Crowded For Annual Show

By CAROLINE ION
Wednesday evening, Oct. 26, Newmarket town hall was again crowded for the second showing of the fall fashions under the sponsorship of the Singer Sewing Centre. Miss Hilda McCaffrey, commentator for the show, estimated that altogether close to 800 people had attended. Tuesday evening, the hall was filled to capacity with everyone present thoroughly enjoying the showing of the garments, all of which were made at the Singer sewing classes. Wednesday proved to be a repetition of this enthusiasm. From what we can gather, the models themselves, enjoyed the second night better for some of that inevitable "stage fright" of first night had passed. The best model for our money, and we are going away out on that proverbial limb to say this on a "Woman's Page," was Virginia Higginson. His was easy to remember, pointing out the details of his outfit as the commentator drew the attention of the crowd to them. (Do we have to leave town, girls, or do you agree that he was really good?) Of course, the wedding and honeymoon scenes should have come quite naturally for it was only a few weeks ago that Mr. and Mrs. Higginson had been practising for the real thing. When introducing the show,

Miss McCaffrey drew attention to the increased interest in sewing that prevails today. "Sewing classes and fabric shops are popular with both young and old. Some sew as a creative hobby; some as an economy; others, because they like the effect and fit they get when they make their own clothes."

"Each year fabrics become more beautiful and varied. Patterns become more exciting and sewing gadgets more efficient. All these things contribute to the success of the women who make their own clothes."

Eves' Millinery supplied the hats to complement the dresses and suits modelled. This year hats hug the head and the hair fits the hat so the Tobey Twins of the Embassy Beauty Salon styled the models' hair for the showing in becoming coiffures. Said Miss McCaffrey, "You'll find the hair styles are simple, yet so feminine. Flattery is worked through soft waves, youthful lines and a clear neck. The short hair cut is definitely for you if you want to enhance your appearance and save precious time."

All the models in the show wore jewelry from Robert Yates Jewellery Store and the Elizabeth Arden complete color harmony make-up with the compliments of the Best Drug Store. Luggage for the honeymoon number was from Ang West's and the attractive purses and gloves which completed the models' outfits were from Tom Burke's.

The wedding number was complete even to the wedding cake supplied by Broadbent's Bakery. The bride's dress of rich white velvet featured a petal neckline, basque bodice with flaring skirt ending in a long train. The unusual floral design for the bride and her attendants were from McCaffrey's Flowers. Morrison's Men's Wear supplied the full evening dress attire for the groom and the best man as well as the other male fashions modelled at the show. The bride's dress was also of velvet in a shade called "gorgeous" while the little flower girl wore a floor-length dress of turquoise velvet. Taking part in the wedding scene were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Higginson as groom and bride, Bertie Mulholland as bridesmaid, Betty Morton as flower girl and John VandenBergh as best man.

YOUNG HOPEFULS BY DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Too Sophisticated For Boys

Jean, a teenager, has plenty of girl friends who appreciate her; but she feels very unpopular because she has no boy friends.

Among girls, Jean has always been popular. That makes it harder for her because now they are entering mixed company and she is left alone more often than not. Jean is sensitive about being unpopular with boys her own age. She has had some dates—but they have either been just last minute fill-ins or blind ones with no repeats so it's no wonder she is developing an inferiority complex.

Why Jean isn't attractive to boys her own age has nothing to do with her appearance or her actions; but the complex she is developing is beginning to warp her personality; and if she doesn't guard against it, she will become impossibly superior-looking and her actions will become intolerably sophisticated for male admiration at any time.

Frequently, teenage girls are socially and intellectually more advanced for their years than teenage boys. This difference doesn't necessarily remain through the years to follow. Besides, by the time young people reach maturity and marriageable age, their appeal to and for the opposite sex is often in a different age group than their own.

At this stage, Jean is too mature for the boys of her age group to appreciate her but not mature enough to recognize it or to cater to it. That accounts for her unpopularity with boys.

Jean is the type who enjoys improving her mind and she has had more time alone in which to read and do just that than most of her friends. Nevertheless, in association with those who don't appreciate her improved mind, it would be more congenial on her part to speak their language and save her attitude of bored sophistication for those who like that sort of affectation.

20's Coiffure Is Returning

By BETTY BRAMMER

The brief polished hair-do of the '20's is back in style. Get out your hairbrush, ladies, and use it. We're told, too, the short coiffure is both suitable and flattering for all from 16 to 60.

Rhinestones are taking first place in the jewellery world just now. There are many striking sets to choose from in the Newmarket stores. One included matching clips that could be worn on a pair of plain pumps, a necklet with pendants and the new drop-type earrings. Rhinestone bracelets in varying widths complete the set.

Coats are full or fitted this year, with smaller furs, lamb or mink, being used for trim. A lovely topcoat seen in a Newmarket store was in the new taupe shade made with a stand-up collar, fitted back, cuff interest and self-covered buttons.

Velvet and suede hats with matching handbags in bronze and spice shades are very new. A suede tam in a soft, bright green with a jewelled clip, seen in a Newmarket store, was attractive.

Make-up, properly applied, is all important to put the finishing touch to your whole ensemble. Elizabeth Arden has just introduced a new shade, Mediterranean, which is very flattering. This is the shade that all the models wore at the fashion show recently. By the way, when you buy some and are a little dubious of the pronunciation, it's "may-dee-terrah-nay."

A tip from Betty: When you are getting ready for that all-important dance don't forget to spray the hem of your dress with your favorite perfume and also a drop on the palm of each hand. Make him remember you!

Interested in Federation Ladies Discuss Their Part

A gathering of ladies, prominent in the agricultural endeavor of York county, met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Boyd, Yonge St., Newmarket, on Tuesday, Oct. 23. A very lively and interesting discussion, dealing with the setup and work of the Federation of Agriculture, was conducted by Mrs. Frank Chapman, Weston, and Mrs. Paul Snider, Edgely.

It was moved and agreed upon that Mrs. Arthur Boyd take the chair, with Mrs. Sid. Jones acting as secretary of the meeting. Plans were made for an important gathering to be held at Newmarket in January following the annual convention of the Federation of Agriculture in Toronto.

After the business session a social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostess. "As a grain of mustard seed grew into a spreading tree, so the outcome of this ladies' meeting may yet become of vital, widespread importance to York county."

King-Vaughan Plow Match Results

With 62 entries, about ten more than last year, it was termed the most successful post-war event.

HANDS IN TRAINING...FOR ONTARIO

Learning to Work With Copper and Brass

IN Ontario the wheels of industry turn for the benefit of every single one of us. Our lathes, dynamos, drill presses, farm combines, tractors, business machines, etc. are producing goods and services which earn dollars. These dollars provide food, clothing, medical care and other necessities which contribute to our security and high standard of living. Every single one of us, therefore, has a very personal interest in the flow of a steady supply of trained workers to industrial plants. These workers will operate machines which are important to our way of life.

We should appreciate, then, the co-operative efforts of government, industry and labour in the field of employee training. In schools and in factories our workers, young and old, are given the opportunity to develop new and specific skills in every field of business and industrial activity. For instance, every effort on the part of workers to become proficient in the art of shaping and moulding copper and brass, will mean greater industrial progress—will help to make Ontario a finer place in which to live and work.

THE BREWING INDUSTRY (ONTARIO)

Our Way of Life Rewards Trained Hands

Ontario workers know they can earn more, have executive responsibility and enjoy a higher standard of living in direct ratio to the skills they acquire and the way they make use of them. That's always true in a free economy—that's why our competitive system will continue to make Canada great and a great place in which to live.

ON THE ALLEYS

By PIN-BOY

The Monday nighters are back in form. Jeanne Gatti set up a new high single for the season with 320. Floss Campbell piled in for 629 on a three-game string of 292, 165 and 172. Edna McGrath, getting back into stride, rang up games of 195, 218 and 184 for 595. Elsie Cline 563, Gwen Doyle 544, a newcomer this year, Hester Clark 538, Phyl McInnis 529 and Miss Mary Osborne 515. Quite a scramble for league leadership. Jokers hung a 4-0 blank on the Aces Monday to snatch first place with ten points. Then it's Snooks 9, Deuces 8, Huskies, Rookies and Aces all even with 7.

Getting to be a habit. Hot shot Harry Thoms led the Tannery keggers last week, cracking the whip for a 217 initial effort, easing off to 210 in the middle and shooting the works for a 294 in the finale. Bud Pettit clipped the pins for 649 with a fine middle game of 279. Stan Smith climbed into third place with a steady 613 pace. Burling's and Thoms' crews each gained five points last week and it's Burling in front with 33, Thoms 31, Geo. Smart's 20 and far back Walt Groves' sextet at 14.

Grace Osmond smacked out a fine 617 series, combining 215, 221 and 181 for her total. Joyce Vandenberg was next in line with the Office Specialty Ladies' league with a triple mark of 335 followed by Ivy Burrows' 530, Eva Whitfield 510, Frances MacLeod 482 and Laura Whitfield 477.

Stores and Sheet Metal are fighting it out for top honors in the Hoffman league. A point separates them at the moment. Stores at 22, Sheet Metal 21. Press Shop is third with 18, Machine Shop 13 and last, Vorelone 10. Stores swept up five and Press Shop four points Friday. Ivan Ruddock displayed mid-season form to poll 706, breaking out at 233 and stretching to 275 in the middle game. Al Bryson broke the individual high single mark in his opener with 310 then tapered off to 192 and 154 for a 655. Pat McLean belted out 577 and Jack Duncan 571 to come to the wire in that order.

Slick Chicks are pulling away from the crowd in the Friday night mixed league exercises. They've 25, Eager Beavers 18, Stinkers 17 and Hep Cats 12. Grace Walthe was high in the ladies' division with 236 single effort and 495 triple. "Bink" Wright did a repeat with the men, climbing on the band wagon

Add Nobleton, R. Hill To Metro League, Name Hines Prexy

At a well attended meeting of delegates from Aurora, Bradford, Sutton and Newmarket, John Hines, Newmarket, was returned as Metropolitan League president for a second term. Other executive members elected were Harold Rogers (Aurora), Geo. Holborn (Sutton), Art Kneeshaw (Bradford), vice-presidents; and Geo. Haskett, secretary-treasurer. A four-man board of governors of Doug Campbell (Newmarket), Clifford Thompson (Sutton), Norm Collings (Bradford), and "Dinty" Moore (Aurora), was also named to the executive office.

When the all-important question of whether to enter the O.H.A. was broached, the delegates voted in favor of it. Should the O.H.A. fail to agree to affiliation, the delegates voted in favor of the Metropolitan League becoming an independent league.

The league decided to accept the entries of the four original members, Aurora, Bradford, Newmarket and Sutton, and that of two new teams, the East Coast Club playing at Nobleton, and Navy Vets having home ice at Richmond Hill. Both new clubs would be asked to name a representative to board of governors.

With three artificial ice rinks in the circuit, Newmarket, Aurora and Nobleton, it was decided that the schedule would start on or about Dec. 15, depending on arrangements for accommodation of the three natural ice teams at the other arenas.

Harold Rogers and Geo. Haskett were named to approach the O.H.A. regarding affiliation.

MAAM BOWLERS NAME MURDISON NEW PRESIDENT

Plans for a busy season at Miami Bowling Greens, Newmarket, were set in motion at a big convention of the town bowlers last Thursday evening. Andy Murdison, one of the originators of the idea for indoor lawn bowling, was named president, Lyman Rose, first vice-president, J. O. Little, second vice-president, Frank Courtney, secretary-treasurer, and Phil Todd, auditor.

A four-man board of directors was named as follows: Bill Geer, Larry Bell, Geo. Hudson and Ray Jelley. Geo. Hudson was given an honorary and life membership in the club for his untiring efforts in getting the club house into shape. J. O. Little was also named an honorary patron. Percy King was named an associate member of the club.

A games committee of Stan Smith (chairman), Larry Bell, Ray Jelley, Tom Scott, Ken Stiver and Jack Macnab was chosen. The following members were named to the house and entertainment committee: Geo. Hudson (chairman), Frank Courtney, Chas. Willis, Bruce Gibson, Bill Geer, and Tom Birrell.

Following the election of officers, presentation of the colts single trophy was made to Art West and senior singles trophy to Bert Budd, champions in their respective classes last season.

November 18 was named as the opening night of the 1949-50 season and later on it was decided to have a jamboree night when outside bowling rinks would be invited in for a tournament. The club house has taken on a "new look" with a complete interior paint job and through the generosity of Gordon Manning of the Office Specialty Mfg. Co., a new linoleum floor will be laid for opening night.

It was decided a draw of the members would be made for trebles to start the ball rolling after opening night.

TO DEDICATE

Dedication and opening ceremonies of Aurora Legion hall, Yonge St. S., is at 4 p.m. and open house tea and inspection of building is at 4.30 p.m.

In attending any or all of these functions you honor the memory of those who paid the supreme sacrifice in two wars.

Because of the inclement weather of November 5 and the fact that many persons not canvassed or tagged have indicated their desire to contribute to the Poppy Fund, the appeal of Aurora Legion will be continued this Saturday, Nov. 12. Those who purchased poppies previously are requested to wear them on Saturday, Nov. 12, and Sunday, Nov. 13. Every citizen should wear a poppy on Sunday, Nov. 13, when the municipal service of remembrance will be held. The co-operation of all citizens in this respect is requested by Mayor Dr. Crawford Rose and the Aurora council.

The impact turned the truck completely upside down and threw the car, owned by the Bell Telephone Company, nearly 35 feet where it ended up in the north-west ditch. Apparently unhurt except for a shaking up, driver of the truck, Oliver Rutter, 48, of 178 Lansdowne Ave., Toronto, climbed from his truck unassisted, and extricated Fraser from the car. The truck was completely demolished. Attending at the scene was Dr. D. Hutchins of Aurora. Investigation is by Chief Dick Mulholland of the Whitchurch Police Department.

Injury Strikes Aurora Hawks

Old man injury struck his first blow of the season at Aurora Hawks on the weekend as the boys went through their paces at Barrie. Most serious was that which came to Bill Wilkinson, speedy forward of three campaigns, who crashed heavily into the boards and sustained a broken leg. Wilkinson will thus be lost to the team for practically the entire season. The dark-haired boy, in his last year in junior company, looked ready for bigger and better things and he was really flying when the accident happened. Grant Green received stitches above the eye, Bruce MacMillan needed eight stitches to his upper lip, and Jack Atkinson also required stitching treatment.

As you can see the lads were really serious and the continual appearance of new players means that none of the candidates can rest on his past laurels. Coach Bill Mitchell is also showing why he's been promoted to junior A company. This year Mitchell is really playing Simon Legree, and there's no fooling or neglect to follow instructions. The squad is being pruned each practice and there'll be few if any rookies make the regular team. Status of the team will be decided by the O.H.A. this week. Listed as Junior C, the team may well be raised to Junior B and if they are, they'll be able to hold their own according to our scouts.

Latest addition to the team is Grant Green, Lindsay, who was mentioned above. Green is employed in the district and he's a sure-pop for a defence post. With Lindsay midgets last season, Green weighs close to 200 pounds and knows how to handle his weight. He has a fair turn of speed. Armed with the necessary releases, Smith and Dillon, Weston, who signed with Aurora last week, were again on hand and Ed Calhoun of the Weston blue-line, a league all-star of last season, accompanied by Florian, another good performer, and Blake Eatough, the lanky

North Woods Beckon Many Hunting From Newmarket

About this time each year, Pop gets down the trusty fowling piece and deserts the comforts of town life to disappear into the north woods to swap yarns and with other brightly dressed members of the gun clubs, do a bit of hunting for deer, bear and moose. Here's what a few of Newmarket and district hunters are doing.

Bert Morrison knocked over a buck. The councillor was up in the Bayswater district with Les Boynton, Harry Richardson, Newmarket, Percy Richmond, Keswick, Dr. G. Macpherson, Mount Albert, and Eldon Goodwin, Holland Landing.

Frank Johnston, Newmarket, and Aubrey Lyons, former Newmarket, are in the north woods with the Proctor hunt club near Portage on the French River. They left on November 4 and expect to stay for two weeks. Luke Lyons, who usually makes the trip, had to say "no" this year owing to home duties.

Ladies End Season With Banquet

Close to 70 lady softball players sat down to supper at Barrie last Friday evening as the Barrie and District Ladies' Softball League closed up its books for the season with a banquet.

All four teams, Allendale, Barrie, Midland and Newmarket, were well represented. Following supper, the presentation of the Copaco Trophy was made to the winning Newmarket team.

Presentation was made by Geo. Richardson of previous year's champions, Midland "Merchants". The trophy was accepted by Coach Charlie VanZant on behalf of the Newmarket ladies.

VanZant said that it was a pleasure to take the trophy home to Newmarket and he hoped they would be able to keep it down this way for a time. Following this, as each team had been asked to name an executive, election of officers for the 1950 season was held. Frank Courtney was returned to the president's desk with an overwhelming vote of confidence. Frank said earlier that he thought a change in the top executives was needed but this didn't stay the hand of the voters.

Miss Hazel Wright of Barrie was returned unopposed to the office of secretary-treasurer. The four managers, one from each team, will complete the executive. The evening closed with a dance.

Present from Newmarket were Hester Clark, Edna McGrath, Pat Duncan, Phyl McInnis, Lois Blight, Mary Osborne, Lois Manning, Mary Ellen McInnis, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Hisey, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Courtney, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. VanZant, Mr. and Mrs. Mel. Ruddock, Mrs. Annie Stickland, John McGrath, Ed. Tupling, Geo. Haskett, Cecil Gibson and Vic. Giovanelli.

Gibney, Smith to Share Coaching Duties for Hoffman Spitfires

Hoffman Spitfires, Newmarket, are all set for a banner ice campaign on artificial ice this coming winter. The executive of the "Spits" met last week to name a coach and came up with a double selection. Harvey Gibney, coach of last season, and Stan Smith will work together to give the Spitfires the benefit of their coaching know-all. It is expected Harvey Gibney will don his hockey regalia as playing coach and give the Spitfires some valuable defense bolstering and Stan Smith will handle the club from the bench.

Other officers of the club, named at a previous meeting, were Doug Campbell, president; John Hines, vice president; Deb Cooper, sec. treas.; Stan Smith, manager; Mickey Smith, assistant manager; and Pete Preston, trainer. The Canadiana Hoffman Machinery Co. will again sponsor the club in the Metropolitan League.
